

Homo Hop Flow: Gay Rappers Bring Pride to Hip-Hop's Birthplace

(NYC-Independent Media Center, July 10, 2005)

After attracting over 600 fans and artists at its inauguration in 2004, the Peace Out East LGBT Hip Hop Festival again showcases the pioneering work of Homo Hop artists. The Festival represents the growing work of a thriving Homo Hop community, whose very presence challenges the notion of hip hop as an anti-gay art form.

Hip-hop itself is not homophobic, notes Paradigm, B.Q.E. member and co-producer of Peace OUT East. Music is a tool; it can be used to build or destroy, she continues, Some people use hip-hop to be homophobic. We use it to build up our people, affirm our heritage as queers, as people of color, and as artists.

LGBT rappers, hip hop artists and fans from localities throughout the East Coast and the country, converge in NYC from Friday, July 15th, through Sunday, July 17th. Peace Out East empowers local artists and fans through increasing viable artistic, professional and networking opportunities for both established and emerging Homo Hop artists.
